Sliced Thin by The Editor

Alex. H. Washburn

THE traveler who is used to buying a railroad passenger ticket at so much a mile is rudely jolted when he takes a look at a freight rate.

For mileage has little to do with freight. But the kind of freight you are shipping, where it comes from and where it is going—these have a great deal to do with the rate you must pay.

Freight rates are designed to help maintain certain established shipping points. The whole structure of freight rates is a maze of arbitrary action by the railroads with the consent of government boards.

Obviously there is always a chance for injustice to certain sections under such an arbitrary system—and our neighbor city of El Dorado is pushing the freight rate case for Arkansas right now.

The following is an editorial from the El Dorado News—

Rate Troubles Within State

The Arkansas freight rate situation is in the limelight again and the discrimination against the state is being revealed in a new light. We have our troubles about high rates when we ship into and out of Arkansas, and facts and figures presented at a recent hearing in Little Rock disclose that similar difficulties also are to be found within our own borders.

Once again it is the question of cotton rates that is to the forefront. This time, however, it is the high cost of movement of the staple within Arkansas, or interstate rates, rather than the rate on the interstate movement of cotton to New Orleans. South Arkansas is familiar with how the New Orleans rate matter was adjusted and the huge savings that resulted.

Now the Arkansas Corporation commission is being asked to put into effect just and reasonable rates, equal mile per mile, on the movement of cotton from one point to another in Arkansas. The commission held a hearing recently and some surprising things were aired through the testimony that was heard and the exhibits presented.

Among important things showing discrimination divulged were these:—Some points in Arkansas enjoy a big advantage in rates over other towns in the state.

2.—Arkansas towns are paying a much higher rate than are points in Louisiana, Texas, Georgia and Alabama.

The petition for lower rates on uncompresses cotton is designed to correct a condition in Arkansas whereby it is possible for a cotton grower in one part of the state to pay only one fourth of the rate that it costs a second farmer to move cotton the same distance but to another point.

The reduction is sought for the further purpose of eliminating a condition whereby the rate for an Arkansas farmer is five or six times more than the rate paid by a grower in Georgia or some other cotton growing state for the same distance.

Probably some rate experts will tell us the above mentioned conditions are due to this or that regulation, or to circumstances in connection with rates on compressed and uncompresses cotton, but the average person likely will want to know why such a situation is not corrected rather than the reason for it being in existence.

Is it fair for one city to pay a rate four times as high as another?

Is it right for Arkansas rates to be five and six times as high as those in effect in Georgia and Alabama?

We think not, and we believe the majority of the fair-minded people of Arkansas will agree with us.

Ozan School Opens

With 41 on Roll

New Free Textbooks Are Distributed With Aid of Patrons

The Ozan Public School opened September 5 with an enrollment of 41. The enrollment for the first four grades was 20 and that for the fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades was 21. There will be more students to enter later in the term.

The parents of the children in school co-operated splendidly with the faculty in the distribution of the free textbooks. Only a few books were lacking to supply each child the free books he needed.

As the Nashville school bus runs within a short distance north and west of the Ozan community, a large number of Ozan pupils, particularly those above the eighth grade, are attending school in Nashville.

Textbook on Vegetable Crops Published by George W. Ware

American Book Company Publishes Local Man's Text

PAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—A text book entitled "Southern Vegetable Crop," by George W. Ware, assistant director, in charge of the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture's Fruit and Truck Branch Experiment Station, as author-compiler, has just been published by the American Book company.

The treatment of the text is divided into two parts, the first being devoted to "Principles" and the second to "Practices." Although the book is vocational in character, a full logical discussion of general principles is given in the first section. The crop chapters in the second section are broken down into "Jobs" which correspond with the chapters on principles in the first part.

This is the first complete vegetable text and reference book which has been specifically prepared for southern conditions. Its contents are based on the latest experimental findings and approved practices, and cover the southern vegetable industry in all of its phases. The text, which is designed for agricultural courses and as a reference manual for agricultural workers, contains 470 pages, 155 new illustrations, and many up-to-date tables. The completeness of the book is further increased by the addition of an appendix, many cross references, glossary, and an adequate list of related references.

In its preparation, the author-compiler has had the technical aid of Dr. H. C. Thompson, national vegetable authority of Cornell University, and the editorial assistance of Kenneth B. Roy, agricultural editor of the University of Arkansas, College of Agriculture. Mr. Ware has also had the assistance of 27 agricultural experts in many leading agricultural colleges and experiment stations throughout the country.

He Won't Go Home Alone—Windsor

Some Doubt Whether Edward Gets Back to England for Christmas

VIENNA, Austria.—(AP)—The plans of the Duke of Windsor for a Christmas visit to England are up in the air, it was reported Wednesday, because he does not want to go home alone.

Wednesday Edward and his bride, the former Wallis Warfield, arrived at Castle Borsodivanka in Hungary after a trip from their honeymoon retreat at Noosch, Austria. Thereupon this story appeared in usually reliable circles about a meeting of the duke and Lord Brownlow, his former gentleman-in-waiting, in Vienna.

Discussing the proposed Christmas visit, Lord Brownlow suggested it would be possible for Edward to go to London alone. Edward insisted that the duchess should be welcomed.

Lord Brownlow intimated that this seemed somewhat doubtful, in view of the continuing world publicity about the Windsors. As a result, the duke's tentative plans—including also a world cruise and a trip to the United States—were in a state of uncertainty.

Bernice Felton to Face New Charge

Acquitted of Murder, She'll Be Tried for Stealing Gates' Car

LONKE, Ark.—Bernice Felton, companion of Lester Brockelhurst, on a crime tour in which three men were killed and many robberies were committed, again will face trial in Lonke Circuit Court. A grand larceny charge against her was filed here by Prosecuting Attorney George F. Hartje Wednesday.

She is charged with the theft of the automobile owned by Victor A. Gates, one of Brockelhurst's murder victims, and taking Mr. Gates' watch after he had been shot by Brockelhurst. Brockelhurst was convicted of first degree murder in connection with Mr. Gates' death and is in the death cell at Tucker farm pending an appeal to the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Bernice's head has been fixed at $1,000. She also will face a federal charge of violating the Dyer act.

Government Loan Granted A. P. & L.

$325,000 Rural Electric Project for Scattered Population

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Rural Electrification Administrator John M. Carmody announced Wednesday a $325,000 loan to the Arkansas Power & Light Co. to establish an electricity distribution system among 17 Arkansas counties he said were too widely scattered to be unified in a public cooperative.

The loan was executed at once, and Carmody approved the company's engineering specifications for constructing 503.2 miles of wire to supply electricity to 1,652 consumers. The administrator said the construction would start as soon as material could be assembled. The allotment followed several conferences between Carmody and company officials.

The counties to be linked have been divided into four sections, which with maximum proportion of allocation, miles of wire, and customers follow:

Section 1—Conway, Pope, Yell, 74, 135, 117.7 miles; 356 customers.
Section 2—Independence, Izard, Sharp, White, Jackson, 73, 268, 116.5 miles; 396 customers.

Section 3—Boone, Marion, Newton, Searcy, 89, 537, 127 miles; 465 customers.

Section 4—Grant, Hot Spring, Garland, Clark, Saline, 96, 950, 142 miles; 425 customers.

The section allotments are maximums, and as such would slightly exceed the $325,000 total.

France Will Be Supported by the British High Fleet

Italy and Germany Refuse to Attend Parley in Switzerland

ORDERED TO "FIRE"

Warship Commanders Will Strike at Any Attacking Submarines

PARIS France.—(AP)—French foreign office officials said Thursday night that they had received assurances that British and two other powers are willing to co-operate with France in a Mediterranean warship patrol under orders to "sink submarine attackers."

The foreign office drafted plans for a naval patrol which it expects Friday's piracy conference to adopt.

By the Associated Press

Great Britain and France join forces Thursday against the Italo-German bloc in the Mediterranean "anti-piracy conference."

Rome and Berlin, acting in close collaboration, refused to attend the Switzerland conference Friday to deal with the torpedoing of merchant ships. London and Paris replied in chorus with a new determination to use their warships to stop attacks, insisting that the parley would achieve results, whether Italy and Germany attend or not.

Italy refused the parley invitation because of Russia's accusations that her submarines sank two Russian freighters.

An unverified report said that Rome and Moscow were near a breach in relations, or a mutual trade boycott.

Germany, as Italy's friend, rejected the conference bid, refusing to sit at the same table with Italy's accuser.

CHICAGO.—(AP)—The Daily Times said in a copyrighted article Thursday:

"In uniform strangely suggestive of those worn by Adolf Hitler's Nazi storm troops a relatively small but rapidly growing army is preparing for the American counterpart of Deed Tag when it plans to seize control of the United States."

The newspaper said its article resulted from an exhaustive investigation of American Nazis by three reporters and investigators.

Paying Off the Debt

ONE of the best signs of the times noticeable during recent weeks is the manner in which casual conversation usually gets around to the 37-billion-dollar public debt at least one time during an evening.

Five years ago probably not one person out of ten in the country could have given any adequate answer to a question regarding his nation's indebtedness. That may have been fine for politicians and the general peace of mind, but it was a bad thing for the country at large.

Thirty-seven billions is a much larger sum than any ordinary mind can conceive, but it sounds tremendously big. Most persons are beginning to realize that sometime, somehow the debt will have to be paid. Paying debts means raising money. Raising money, as far as the government is concerned, means raising taxes. And raising taxes hits the average citizen in a vulnerable spot.

Perhaps if the conversations about that debt get a little more specific and enough people get alarmed about having to pay it, eventually some of that alarm will be passed along to Congress. It might even result in less borrowing and a balanced budget for a change.

Back to Earth

APPARENTLY present and future wars will have to be fought in the same prosaic way—on the ground.

Much of war's romance went out with the flashing sabers of cavalry charges—Chickamauga and San Juan Hill.

There was an attempt to revive the romance in the air service, duels to the death five thousand feet up, "aces" and all that.

But now the highest commanding officers of the U. S. army announce that any idea of fighting future wars in the air is just so much bunk. Planes, they say, cannot hold objectives, cannot clean out machine gun nests or snipers, cannot fly in bad weather and dare harassed too greatly by anti-aircraft guns. They're most valuable for scouting, for bombing bridges and a little terrorizing ground strafing.

It's too bad. There goes the last glorification, the final swagger, the end of spectacular individualism. War is just muddy trenches and barbed wire and death in a shell hole after all.

Discovery of Cortin Has Saved Lives of Many With Adrenal Gland Diseases

This is the 13th of 20 articles by Dr. Fishben on the glands of the body and their functions.

(No. 314)
When the cortex or outer portion of the adrenal gland is absent, there develops a condition called Addison's disease. In this condition there are insomnia, depression, great fatigue, and the development of increasing weakness to the point of death.

The skin gradually becomes bronzed. There is overactivity of the bowels, with nausea and diarrhea. The pulse becomes weak, the blood pressure falls, the red blood cells and the white blood cells are in amount, although occasionally there may be responses in which there is a great increase in the red blood cells. The bronze color of the skin is one of the most notable symptoms.

Until the discovery of cortin, patients with this condition usually died promptly. Nowadays, under proper administration of this substitute for the secretion of the adrenal glands, it is possible to keep people alive for fairly long periods of time, some patients living for 10 years or more after the beginning of this disease.

Another disease resulting from the action of the adrenal glands is the effect of overaction of the medullary or inner portion of this gland. This is the portion which develops the adrenalin. In case of tumor there may be such overaction that definite symptoms develop. These symptoms include tendency to fever, sweating, palpitation, restlessness, high blood pressure and rapid rate of pulse. There will be severe headache and many other symptoms definitely related to the fact that there is too much adrenalin in the blood.

In some cases doctors have been able to improve these patients by applying X-ray to the adrenal glands; in other instances, to operate for the removal of the tumor. However, the application of the X-ray to the adrenal glands may be a serious procedure, because of the possibility of diminishing the secretion of the cortin, which is also vital.

Recently a good deal of surgery has been attempted in relationship to the adrenal glands for the treatment of certain forms of diabetes and for high blood pressure. The danger of such surgery is so obvious that it is attempted only in the most severe cases.

NEXT: The pancreas.

Your Children

By Olive Roberts Barton

Shock Often Cause of Child's Tears

Children often cry for nervousness or shock. Even though they are not hurt at the time, a fall that will make a man swear, or a woman scream, will send the child into a kale of tears.

I have never known the involuntary reactions of children to differ in any great degree from those of grownups. There is a difference, of course, but it lies mostly in control, and control takes a lifetime plus, to learn.

Johnny was getting into the boat, when suddenly his daddy gave it a push that sent the little fellow sprawling. He wasn't hurt but he began to roar. "What's the matter?" demanded his impatient parent.

"I hurt my leg."

Will Alibi Tears
I had been watching and knew that the bumped leg was only an excuse, because the child has great fortitude against pain. He was startled, that was it, startled and suddenly angry. This type of anger is common to all of us. When startled, swiftly our thoughts travel from the terror that hit us to the one who left it open; from the needle that pricks us to the one who tore his clothes. It is as natural to be outraged when shocked, hurt or not, as it is to breathe.

An adult does not find it necessary to camouflage his feelings. The child does. And so we get the idea that he can't stand a little pain. While he is merely weeping for his shock, he is utilizing the tears for all his worth.

Tears of Rage
The mother who gets discouraged because her boy cries when he meets with trifling mishaps, may be cheered to know that his tears are not due to lack of courage but rather to quick rage, no matter what excuse he gives us. When started, and this type of rage need not worry her too much either, as it is so common.

Things Are Picking Up

Paul Harrison in Hollywood

Jealous Hollywood Claims the Woods Are Full of Charlie McCarthys

HOLLYWOOD.—Short takes:
Flesh-and-blood actors, perhaps a little jealous of the attention a ventriloquist's dummy is getting, are saying that the woods are full of guys like Charlie McCarthy.

Certainly Hollywood is full of them. Several of the studios are scrambling to line up blockheaded comics and their spokesmen as competition for McCarthy and Edgar Bergen.

Earl Carroll is planning a super-gigantic Hollywood night club patterned after Manhattan's French Casino. Seems like a good idea: the Casino occupies the former Earl Carroll Theater, which he lost with his "Vaalities" ventures.
Snoopers are busy at Paramount tracing what is believed to have been an inside leak on stars' addresses and telephone numbers. Somebody at every studio must sell this information, because a complete directory of all the prominent people in the colony is available through obscure sources for $50.

Greta Garbo has taken drastic steps to renew her privacy. Fired all her servants, engaged a new staff, and has moved to another house in Brentwood—this one at 350 North Cliffwood, in case you'd like to drop her a note.

Meanwhile Michelle Cooper is going crazy because all the conductors of sightseeing tours point out his home as Miss Garbo's. Fans camp in the street for hours waiting for a glimpse of the wan Swede, and they think they sense a romance or a scandal in the frequent comings and goings of Actor Cooper.

An "Elevator" Picture

Some of the studios remake a lot of their old pictures with different casts, new titles and some story changes. "Rafter Romance," in which Ginger Rogers and Francis Lederer co-starred in 1933 now is being filmed with James Dunn and Joan Woodbury in the top spots. But the locale has been altered, too, for the name now is "Love in a Basement."

The worst still pictures ever made of William Powell were snipped the other day—for his passport. He's going abroad for a rest.

For six years and 33 pictures, Astrid Allwyn has been a feminine heavy. Now, in "The Westland Case," she gets a role which at least ends sympathetically. Louis Alberici has had the roles of music teachers or musicians in the 18 films, but he can't play any instrument or read a note.

Jane Withers was supposed to have had a baby lion for a pet in "45 Fathers." But the studio thought it would be safer to substitute a chimpanzee. But the chimp bit her hand and delayed the picture four days. Now her pet is a small monkey.

Will Film Jean's Book

After almost every movie scene, Katharine Hepburn gets out of her costume and into slacks and sweater. May have only five or ten minutes of rest, then she patiently dons her costume again. Sometimes changes 20 times a day.

Movieland montage: Max Baer showing a couple of cuties the town. Adolph Menjou in the Vendome in knickers; he's the only one in town who wears them. William Gargan soon will be a red-head again; he dyed his hair black five years ago. Victor McLaglen, 6 feet 7 1/2 inches, is shorter than his 15-year-old son Andrew. Fay Wray drawing boulevard stables with a halo hat of big red flowers and a black veil about a yard long hanging over her face.

The late Jean Harlow's book, "Today Is Tonight," is being adapted for a screen play at Metro. The story—as she wrote it, anyway—is about a woman's sacrifice and devotion to a blind man.

The Sweetest Hour

With the tranquil light of dusk,
When the shadows eastward fall,
And the long day's work is done,
Comes the sweetest hour of all.
Flush of morn and glow of noon,
These are vanished now and gone,
And the thought of home and love
Blisses men at set of sun.
Thought of watchful eyes that cast
Eager glances down the street;
Thought of children's gleeful shouts
And of little toddling feet.
Thoughts of welcome, loyal, true,
And of lifted clasping arms;
These the things which with the dusk
Lend the sweetest hour its charms.

Heflin Again Aims at Seat in Senate

Lays Aside Pope-Baiting for New Political Hobby-Horse

By PRESTON GROVER
WASHINGTON—Probably one of the things President Roosevelt didn't think about when he appointed Hugo Black to the Supreme Court was that Tom Heflin would try to succeed Black in the senate.

The people outside Alabama who don't know former Senator Heflin could be counted in millions. But in his home state Heflin's peaco-shaped figure, reddish hair and smooth-fitting, buff-colored slacks are recognized at every cross-roads.

Likely he has told a rip-roaring story at each crossing, accompanied by booming laugh that rattled the audience off the fence rails. A man who spent 16 years in the house and 10 in the senate should be able to think of something funny at almost any moment.

Heflin, the Pope-Baiter
Heflin was elected to the senate and soon thereafter won himself a headline of fame by attacking the Pope as a menace to peace in America. The Pope, said Heflin, was trying to get the United States to punish Mexico for roughing up the Catholic clergy down there.

He rode this hobby-horse in and out of the senate. Although few besides Heflin ever took it very seriously, he carried it so far as to bolt the Al Smith ticket in 1928.

In 1930 a Bankhead father-son cycle was completed after a 10 year intermission by Heflin. The great foe of the Pope had been elected to the senate in 1920 to succeed John H. Bankhead, father of the present congressional Bankheads, the speaker of the house and the senate. Speaker William Bankhead had been in congress several years before his elder brother polished off Heflin in the 1930 primary and so put another John H. Bankhead in the senate.

His New Deal Job
Hard times then came upon Heflin. Few politicians, especially the senatorial kind, amass real fortunes from politics, and Heflin was not one of those. He was in and out of Washington much of the time, and by 1935 had forgotten his anti-Pope fervor and was glad of a few months work under the New Deal. He became speaker extraordinary and ballyhooer plenipotentiary for the Atlanta district of the federal housing administration—at less than half his senatorial salary.

From time to time he breezed out on the senate floor in his tan-colored suit, looking like a woodcut from a Civil war issue of Leslie's Weekly. During one of Huey Long's rampages in the senate, Heflin confided to news men that he would give his sartorially splendid left foot for an opportunity to go to bat in debate against the "Kingfish."

Heflin now says he will slump Alabama from end to end for the senate on a phrase he invented two years ago when Roosevelt appointed him Atlanta speaker for the house administration. "Roosevelt has destroyed the power to

Hull Lets Navy Carry Out Neutrality Program Unassisted

By PRESTON GROVER
WASHINGTON—Our hero for this week is Michael J. McDermott, Secretary Hull's chief of public information. He preserved the state of confusion at the state department.

In his usual deep-southern diction Secretary Hull told a press conference that Admiral Yarnell, in charge of the U. S. fleet in China waters, had warned all Yankee merchant vessels to stay out of Shanghai.

It was important news. It meant, in effect, that the navy was putting much of the neutrality act into effect without the formality of a Presidential proclamation. A major purpose of the neutrality act is to keep American ships out of danger zones.

Now, contrary to film thrillers, reporters don't grab paper and begin noisily to scribble notes when in such a demonstration might startle the news source into qualifying or recalling his statements.

Dead Pan McDermott
But at Secretary Hull's elbow stood McDermott. He is always there at press conferences. He said nothing. His face at such conferences usually is as bland and expressionless as a pan of milk. But at Hull's statement, several of the McDermott minor facial muscles twitched.

The conference ended and McDermott followed Hull back into his office. Evidently he asked Secretary Hull if he had received confirmation of such a blanket order against American shipping. And evidently Secretary Hull must have decided instantly that it was not wise for him to say so. It would have meant that the state department was joining with the navy in putting part of the neutrality act into play.

At any rate McDermott sailed out of the office, his parachute spinnaker full in the wind. He crashed into the press room. Several reporters already were in telephone booths dictating stories into their office. McDermott kicked open the doors. "Hold everything," he shouted. Everybody held everything.

Then he explained that what Secretary Hull meant was that he had received information that Admiral Yarnell had told the Dollar liner President Hoover to stay out of Shanghai. Yarnell also had cancelled the calls of other Dollar liners which had been asked to evacuate Americans from the war zone.

All Is Confusion
Dispatches continued coming from Shanghai that Yarnell had told all ships to stay out. But Hull next day and the day after continued saying he had no additional news on the subject. It was confusing as everything. The navy saying one thing and the state department only half as much. But it was a bit of confusion the department had to preserve in order to justify its delay in officially putting the neutrality act into effect.

Actually while the state department continued "watchfully waiting" affairs were coming to a head. Senator Pittman of Nevada, chairman of the foreign relations committee, said two conditions must develop to justify putting the neutrality act and its arms embargo into effect. One nation must set out to conquer another. And the warfare must interfere with American shipping.

Well, Japan has outlined its inter-

Metal Worker Makes Pistol of Auto Parts

GRAND ISLAND, Neb.—(AP)—A .22 caliber rifle which shoots accurately at a quarter of a mile and a "home-made" .38 caliber pistol which will shoot special bullets through a steel plate one eighth of an inch thick have been perfected by R. E. Davis of Grand Island, Neb. Davis, a skilled metal worker and mechanic by trade, is a gunsmith in his spare time.

He bored the back end from a .22 caliber barrel to fit a special cartridge of that size made from a 30.06 Springfield army rifle bullet. He attached three lenses for a telescope sight.

Now the gun shoots bullets which at 300 yards pierce a one-half inch steel plate. Crows, rabbits and other small game can be shot at distances from 300 to 500 yards. The gun weighs 12 pounds.

For his .38 caliber revolver, which Davis constructed from the drive shaft of an automobile and the axle of a truck, he fabricated a bullet with a hollow point which gives the projectile unusual accuracy. Cast from low grade babbit metal, it weighs 132 grains and travels at the rate of 1,800 feet per second.

Alvin Bell To Referee Hope-Horatio Game Here Friday

Big Crowd to Be on Hand for 1st Game

Gates to Open at 7:15—Opening Kick-Off at 8 o'Clock

Coach Foy H. Hammons announced Thursday that Alvin E. Bell of Little Rock, nationally-known sports official and football rules interpreter, will referee the opening football game here Friday night between Hope and Horatio High Schools.

Bell, close friend of Hammons, is en route to Louisiana to interpret new football rules for the Louisiana State Coaches association.

Other officials will be Carl Daly-rmple, Henderson State Teachers; Burl Thompson, U. of A., and Earl O'Neil, Hendrix.

The opening kick-off is set for 8 o'clock.

From advance sale of tickets, one of the largest opening game crowds in history will be on hand. Season tickets have been selling at a rapid pace, school officials said. All but four box seats on the west side of the field have been sold.

The reserve seat section in the bleachers has been increased to seat 140 persons. Approximately 80 of these seats have been taken. These seats are located on the five top rows in the middle section of the west stand and are selling at $1.25 for the season.

A member of the school faculty will be in front of the entrance gates Friday night to sell season student tickets. These can be purchased for 50 cents. Single admission for students is 25 cents.

Entrance gates and ticket windows at the new stadium will open at 7:15 p. m., giving fans 45 minutes to obtain seats before the start of the game.

Coach Hammons said the football field, barring rain, would be in good shape. Goal posts were to be put up Thursday afternoon.

The football sound as a whole is in good shape for the start of the campaign. Freeman Stone, veteran tackle, has been troubled somewhat by a tonsil ailment. Robert Jewell and Major Simpson have slight injuries, but all three players are expected to be ready by game time.

Coach Hammons announced Wednesday that the Hope-DeQueen game, originally scheduled for October 8 at DeQueen, has been moved up to Thursday night, October 7, because of the conflict with the Tex-Ark Boy Scout circus.

Authorities of both schools have agreed to the change in date. Here is the following schedule as it now stands:

September 10—Horatio at Hope.
September 17—Benton at Hope.
September 24—Byrd High of Shreveport at Hope.

October 1—Smackover at Hope.
October 7—DeQueen at DeQueen.
October 15—Jonesboro at Jonesboro.
October 22—Nashville at Camden.
November 5—Blytheville at Blytheville.

November 12—Russellville at Hope.
November 19—Walnut Ridge at Hope (tentative).
November 25—Open (game to be played at Hope).

Canada produced approximately 29,450,000 pounds of sugar and syrup during 1936.

As Collegians Defeated Pro Champs

It was Sammy Baugh's 20-yard pass to Gaynell Tinsley who ran 28 yards to the game's only touchdown which gave the College All-Stars their 6-0 triumph over the professional champions, Green Bay's Packers, but the Texas Christian star fumbled the leather over the terrain of Soldiers' Field quite capably. Here he is bringing back a punt in the third quarter of game which was watched by 85,000.

Burleigh Grimes' Contract Renewed

Brooklyn Manager Will Receive Increase in Salary Next Year

BROOKLYN — (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers Wednesday night reapportioned Burleigh Grimes manager of the club for 1938. It was reported Grimes, who took over management of the Dodgers last November, would receive an increase in salary, believed between $8,000 and $10,000 for this year.

The Dodgers announced the decision after a meeting of the Board of Directors, putting at rest rumors which had been going the rounds for three days that Grimes would be ousted. After the announcement it was reported he would receive from $13,000 to $15,000 for next season.

Grimes has been doing better than expected with the Dodgers. Given little material with which to work this season, the ex-spitballer of National League pitching has brought the club into sixth place, despite the ailment and absence of his hurling ace, Van Lingle Mungo.

His chief claim to fame this season, however, has been his numerous rows with the National League umpiring staff. He has been tossed out of ball games eight times since the season started, and has been fined several times by the league president, Ford Frick.

DETROIT — (NEA) — Everybody in Detroit except Charley Gelhringer is following the Tiger second baseman's fight for the American League batting championship.

"I never look at the averages," says Charley. "I'd rather not know what I'm hitting—it's bad luck."

Batters Might've Chased Him

SEATTLE — (NEA) — "Hey, kid!" Coach Doc Crandall shouted to a mild young man sitting on the end of the Seattle Indians' bench. "You can't sit there—move along!"

About an hour later the Indians were being scolded and Manager John Bassler looked around for a relief pitcher. He wanted to use Marion Oppelt, a young violin teacher who had just signed up that afternoon.

"Where is he, doc?" asked Bassler. "Gosh," spluttered Crandall, an abashed look on his weather-beaten face, "maybe he was the kid I chased off the bench before the game..."

It's No Wonder They Call Him "El Goofy"

PHILADELPHIA — (NEA) — Lefty Gomez of the Yankees slipped into the Athletic dressing room here at Shibe Park recently, sneaked up behind Pitcher Harry Kelly, and snipped off a lock of Harry's hair.

Kelly doesn't have much to spare and when he yelped a good-natured protest, Gomez solemnly and apologetically pasted the shorn lock back on with a strip of adhesive tape.

Woodell's Injury Is Minor, X-Ray Reveals

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. — (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks' stock soared Wednesday when X-ray pictures revealed no fracture or bone displacement in the ailing ankle of Lloyd Woodell, leading candidate for center. Woodell suffered the injury in an early summer softball game.

Coach Fred C. Thomsen, who has been worried over a replacement for Woodell, said he believed practice would give the pivot star full confidence and that he would soon reach or top his 1936 form.

Heavy rains have curtailed practice and made impossible any drill on pass plays.

Changes in Grid Rules Are Given

Alvin E. Bell, Noted Official, Interprets New Rules of Game

By ALVIN E. BELL
LITTLE ROCK — The 1937 football season was perhaps the most exciting and colorful in the history of the game. Most of the games from the start were real contests and each Saturday became a day of upsets. High class football was the rule and not the exception.

The rules of the 1936 season proved very satisfactory. There have been a number of suggestions for rules changes, but the Rules Committee has given careful thought and due consideration of the effect any suggested change may have on the smooth and safe operation of the game. The game is safer now than ever before because of improved technique of the coaches, trainers, etc.

The 1937 edition of the Official Rules contains no great changes of fundamental nature. Many of the changes are for the sake of clarification. As I stated in my previous stories for the Gazette, the rules are becoming more fixed each year.

Some of the more important changes will be indicated. The changes and clarifications should facilitate the administration of the game, assist in ruling troublesome points and generally speed up play. Games will be played in quicker time this season.

Fifteen Changes

There are really 15 changes although there are 22 in all including the technical phases. Players are no longer required to wear a six-inch Arabic numeral on the front of the jersey and an eight-inch numeral on the back. This will be helpful to the officials and the spectators.

Possibly, the most important change is under Rule 6, Section 2, page 21. This rule change states that there will be one and only one kick-off that goes out of bounds between the goal lines. "If the ball goes out of bounds between the goal lines, (except after being caught and fumbled or kicked by a player), the opponents shall have the option of putting it in play by scrimmage anywhere on their 35-yard line or at a point 10 yards in from where the ball crossed the side line. The penalty for violation of the kick-off formation or a foul committed after the ball has gone out of bounds should be enforced from the spot of the succeeding play."

That means the game will be speeded up a great degree, cumulative penalties will be done away on a kick-off as in the past, more kicks will be kicked down the middle which means more run backs and this will be much more simple and easy to administer. Another advantage of this change is it prevents a team from nullifying a penalty by kicking out of bounds intentionally.

Pass Interference
There has been a great deal written about the supplemental rule, page 21 of the rules that deals with pass interference. There is absolutely no change in this rule. Interference will be ruled just as in the past; the important thing to bear in mind always is are the players playing the man or the ball? The note reads:

"During a forward pass play, a must be remembered that defensive players have as much right to the ball as offensive players and badly contact, however severe, between players who are making a bona fide and simultaneous attempt to catch or bat the ball shall not be construed as interference."

Thus it can be plainly seen that this note is merely added for clarification. Interference will be ruled as always and judgment of the officials in each particular case the determining feature guided by the above. I really believe if more basket ball officials were used in the capacity of field judges who are in position to see the majority

Dizzy Dean Asked to Retire 1 Year

Would Rather Have Release, St. Louis Pitcher Replies

ST. LOUIS — (AP) — A year's retirement from baseball was recommended Wednesday for Dizzy Dean, ailing ace pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, by Branch Rickey, vice president and general manager of the club.

Rickey said the Cardinals management would support an application for the famous hurler's voluntary retirement in 1938 should Dean take such action. Rickey said his suggestion was based on the big right-hander's record for the season. Dix has won only one game for the Cardinals since the all-star game when he suffered a broken toe from a ball hit by Earl Averill of the Cleveland Indians.

"I believe that's the best thing (a year's retirement) that could happen to Dizzy," Rickey said. "It is my opinion that it would have been better had Dizzy retired last spring as he threatened to do at one time."

"I believe a year out of baseball would act as a tonic for him and build up his baseball morale as well as his arm which has been bothering him."

"Dizzy now is not just a player. He's a big shot. He has too many interests outside baseball."

Would Rather Have Release

CHICAGO — (AP) — A surprised Dizzy Dean said Wednesday night a year's retirement from baseball as suggested by Branch Rickey, vice president and general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, would be "O. K. with me if that's the way they feel about it, but a better idea would be for them to release me and let me deal with some other club."

Rickey's statement from St. Louis so caught Dizzy by surprise that it took him several minutes to warm up in making his answer.

"I haven't talked to Rickey or anyone else tonight," he said. "I don't know why he said I should take a year off. I haven't been able to pitch anything like my best since my left big toe was broke in the all-star game. But, if that's the way they feel about it, it's O. K. with me."

"I've done my best all the time, but it seems lately that it isn't ever good enough. All the time for the last seven years when I was winning games and winning World's Series, I was a great guy and everything was okay. Now, when I ain't going so good, everything's wrong with me."

Dean thought the best thing for all concerned would be for him to be allowed to deal with some other major league club.

"I may not be doing so good now," he said, "but I'll be O. K. by next season. I can't see a reason for layin' off a year."

Dizzy who lost a 4-to-0 decision to the Chicago Cubs Wednesday although he gave only five hits, said he "never should have been in there."

"My arm felt terrible today," he insisted. "And on top of that, they left me in there to bat for myself in the ninth with two out and a man on, after I had turned my ankle in the third and couldn't run much."

Dizzy said he expected to remain with the club and "do the best I can," unless President Sam Breadon or Frisch orders him to do otherwise.

Loneliest Spot Is the Squared Circle—Sharkey

BOSTON — (NEA) — The loneliest place in the world, Jack Sharkey was saying the other day, is the center of the ring after the opening bell has clanged.

"You seconds climb down out of the corner and there you are," said Jack. "You, the referee, and the other guy. The referee can't help; the other fellow's there to hurt. What a lonely place to be..."

of "pass-interference" cases, there would be less controversy over this point as they are so used to this type of decision. Practically all basket ball contact or personal fouls are similar to "pass-interference."

In regard to a player kicking a free ball, a new note is added making it clear that the player must "strike the ball" with his foot in order to be called kicking a free ball.

The other changes are words or a few words added here and there for the purpose of clarification. The words "legally" has been inserted to change the meaning of several situations. But to the average fan, it will mean little.

Rules More Uniform

The increasing tendency toward uniform interpretation of the rules throughout the nation is indeed gratifying and represents constructive effort on the part of these responsible. Such groups as the Southwest Football Officials Association, the Southern and Southern Eastern as well as others have done a great deal. Organizations such as the Arkansas Athletic Association have done excellent work.

The Southern Eastern and Southern groups have possibly gone farther than any other in this respect in requiring their officials to stand speed trials, (to run 50 yards in seven seconds or less), stand written examinations, certifying their general physical condition and minor matters. Twenty-two questions and answers given the officials at Atlanta recently will be found in other columns.

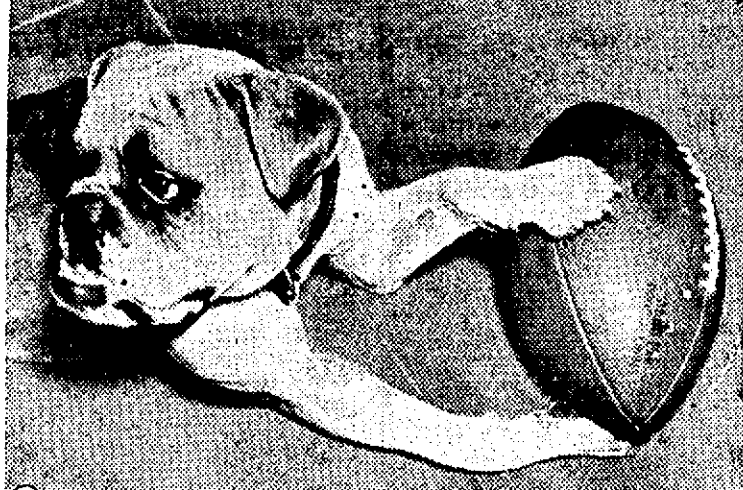

I expect a great 1937 season. It won't be long now!

Good Thing for Rasslers

Ernie Dusek said something about having a tough neck so Jack Dempsey wrapped a rope around the wrestler's neck and strung him up to test it. Dusek, as you can see by this picture, was right.

MENACING MASCOT

Murfreesboro Ready to Meet Nashville

NASHVILLE — Coach Gilbert Grant gave his Murfreesboro High School football team its final pre-season workout here Wednesday, and announced it was all in shape for the opening game at Nashville Friday night. About 23, including 12 letter men, have been working out daily since September 1.

El Dorado in Need of Ball Carriers

Finding Backfield to Go With Strong Line Is Problem

EL DORADO — (AP) — Coach James (Bubber) Nesbitt, starting his first season as mentor for the El Dorado Wildcats, is faced with the problem of finding a suitable backfield to go with an indicated strong line.

After watching his hopefuls go through four practice sessions, Coach Nesbitt said he was convinced he would be able to count on a favorable forward wall.

But, he added, lack of experienced backfield material is causing all the trouble at this stage. It probably would make and attempt at choosing a definite ball carrying lineup.

Coach Nesbitt and his assistant, Guy B. (Skipper) Hays, planned heavy workouts for this week, involving practice at blocking, tackling and other fundamentals. There will be skull sessions each morning.

George Kelly, counted on to hold down a first string tackle position, is the only major absence from practice sessions, and Coach Nesbitt said he expected the lineman to report this week.

The schedule:

Sept. 17—Ruston, La., at El Dorado.
Sept. 24—El Dorado at Haynesville, La.

Oct. 1—Benton at El Dorado.
Oct. 8—Texarkana at El Dorado.
Oct. 15—El Dorado at Smackover.

Oct. 22—El Dorado at Pine Bluff.
Oct. 29—El Dorado at Russellville.
Nov. 5—Dyersburg at El Dorado.

Nov. 12—El Dorado at Hot Springs.
Nov. 19—Open.
Nov. 25—El Dorado at Camden.

Shoots Duck, But Season Is Wrong

Kansas Hunter Claims Ignorance of Law, But It Costs Him $25

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(AP)—William A. Still shot a duck in Kansas last February and, as a result, came into federal court Wednesday to answer these charges:

1. Hunting migratory fowl in violation of a 1918 treaty between the United States and Great Britain.
2. Attempting to kill migratory fowl in violation of the treaty.
3. Having possession of one wild duck, contrary to the treaty.
4. Firing from an automobile at a wild duck.
5. Attempting to shoot wild duck from an automobile.
6. Using a repeating shotgun having more than three shells.
7. Attempting to use a repeating gun having more than three shells.
8. Having no unexpired license to hunt ducks.

"Your honor," said Still, "I did not know anything about the treaty. I was hungry. I shot the duck to eat."

"Ignorance of the law is no excuse," said Judge Richard J. Hopkins. Still paid a $25 fine.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking poisons out of the blood. When they become tired, poisons build up in the blood, causing backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, and many other troubles. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisons from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Pick Toledo Man to List Jobless

HYDE PARK, N. Y.—(AP)—The president Thursday asked John D. Biggers of Toledo, Ohio, to take charge of the unemployment registration program authorized by congress. Biggers said he would give his answer next Wednesday.

Duke's U.S. Home? So Says Rumor

Because $350,000 is being spent in restoring this mansion, secluded on its Chesapeake Bay island, and because W. H. Stillwell, its owner, is a friend of Herman L. Rogers, frequent spokesman for the Duke of Windsor, rumors have arisen that the 147-year-old estate is to become the home of the former English king and his American wife. Stillwell has denied that the restored estate is for any use but his own. It was once the home of William Paca, wealthy leader of revolution and lavish society. The lovely and secluded site of the mansion is shown in the top picture, its regal aspect is suggested in the lower.

U. S. Prisoner of War to Be Freed

Harold Dahl Assured Spanish Rebels Will Exchange Him

BURGOS, Spain.—(AP)—Harold Dahl, 28, of Champaign, Ill., captive airman under sentence of death, said Thursday that insurgent Generalissimo Francisco Franco has promised his release.

Dahl said Franco had assured Mrs. Dahl that he would be released as an exchange prisoner.

Fish-Bowls Start Fires Sometimes

But Tests Show Only Short Light Rays Pass Through Water

NEW YORK.—(AP)—Fire insurance records prove that fish bowls, standing in sunlight near windows, act as burning glasses that occasionally start fires.

But persons who use a hot tungsten light to project lantern pictures on screens often take the heat out of the rays with a rounded jar of water and never have any "burning glass" troubles.

The two experiences are contradictory. An investigation, giving the reason, said to be the first one published, is reported in Science by Karl S. vanDyke of Wesleyan university.

Long rays of light do not pass through water. The long rays contain most of the heat. Tungsten lamp rays are mostly the long ones, but the sun has not only the long but a huge mass of short rays.

The short rays pass through water. Although not so hot as the long rays, they burn when sufficiently focussed. In Dr. vanDyke's laboratory a water jar on a window sill burned the woodwork, in spring and fall, for one hour a day, for 10 years. The rest of the year the angle of sunlight was wrong and there was no burning.

Hawk's A "Fish"

FONCA CITY, Okla.—(AP)—Jimmy Crawford claims one of the season's most unusual "fish" catches.

As Crawford threw back his line in preparation for a cast, a large hawk swooped down and grabbed his bait. When the line and the hawk fell into the water, Crawford thrust a net over the "catch" and brought him in safely.

Aviation Show at Hope Airport Begins at 2 Sunday Afternoon

Photo shows Slide Hlip Johnnie, a member of the Dixie Dare Devils, who will present an automobile and aerial circus at 2 p. m. Sunday at the local airport. As the photo shows, Johnnie is making a successful parachute jump. He will perform the act here Sunday.

Thrilling stunts will be offered at the local airport Sunday afternoon when the Dixie Dare Devils go into action at 2 o'clock.

A two-hour program of aerial and automobile stunts will be given. One of the features of the aerial program will be a parachute jump by Slide Hlip Johnnie from a plane two miles above the ground.

Also featured in the aerial show will be Lieutenant Walter L. Hawkins, veteran stunt ace, and his troupe of fearless fliers and acrobatic performers.

These men all have long records in the air and have experienced narrow escapes from death.

Captain (Happy) Harris, one of the original Hell-Drivers who was featured at the World's Fair in Chicago two years ago, will be featured in the automobile stunt show.

Using a stock model Pontiac car, his performance calls for square U turns at 60 miles an hour, a 40-foot broad jump at 50 miles per hour, six hurdles with right and left turns at high speed. He will also do acts in a speeding automobile with his eyes blindfolded with adhesive tape.

At 4 p. m. Saturday Captain Harris will give a demonstration of blindfold driving in the business district of Hope.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk. Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Christmas is celebrated in Spain on January 6, which is known as the Feast of the Three Kings. There are 35,000 John Smiths in the United States, according to census figures.

May Be Life on Moon, After All

Color Changes Traced Possibly to Vegetation or Bacteria

NEW YORK.—(AP)—There are reasons for believing there is life on the moon, says William H. Pickering, one of the best known astronomers.

He finds these in color changes in some of the moon's craters, the mountains which exactly resemble the earth's volcanic and meteoric craters.

He says he believes he has seen tinges of red and green, indicating vegetation. The growth can be either hardy plants or bacteria.

The color changes wax and wane with the coming of the moon's daytime, which lasts half a month. The known fact that the moon has no air has been accepted as making any form of life there impossible. The moon hasn't enough gravitational pull to hold an atmosphere, but there might be a few traces of gases close to its surface.
